CASE
13 APRIL 1963

Mr. J. Allen Synak, Director
Dearborn Observatory
Northwestern University
Evanston, Illinois

Dear Mr. Synak:

Your correspondence will reveal that you wrote to us on January 7, 1963, pertaining to my report of a strange sighting in the sky. You asked that I provide additional details, or else phone collect to your home. I attempted to telephone today, but I was told that you were out of the state. After waiting by mail for three and a half months, I decided a letter would suffice. Some one at your home supplied the operator with your address in New Mexico, but I decided to write.

I hope you have the file or an original report to the Air Force. I have not preserved your original request for more information simply because I felt inadequate to explain the circumstances of most of original report. I also felt it is difficult to be accurate late in describing the case.

I am very interested by the fact that you said you could see the same "stars" in the same part of the sky. It was definitely the same time, while sitting on the same spot of ground.

Finally, we had almost forgotten about the matter and it was completely coincidental that we observed again. We use this dark house at night only every fourth week or so, and then only for a Saturday night.

These "stars" may be present every night for I do not know, because I have not tried to observe, but let us say that these "stars" are not stars, but are unidentified flying objects that demand some explanation.

I wish that some professional observer could have the opportunity to see these objects. May I point out that this past Saturday night, April 13, was again a night of clear skies with hundreds of perfect stars in the heavens. We saw only two moving stars this time instead of three. When they stop, they look for all the world like a fixed star in the sky.

From a patriotic point of view, I should like to have a trained observer witness these flying stars, but this would be for you to decide.

Very truly yours,
